Topic and Purpose:
I would like to create a website which describes some scientific knowledge towards the Chinese 24 seasons (The 24 Solar Terms) in the Chinese calendar. As a child born in Beijing and a fan of astronomy and geography, I want to present some knowledge about ancient rule of recording dates invented in China, which is still widely used nowadays. I briefly explained how the seasons are identified, what their natural indicators can be, how they can influence the agriculture, and how traditional Chinese culture incorporates with the change in seasons. I'm hoping to introduce and deliver some of these useful information for those people who are curious.

Elements Included:
Besides the basic layout methods, I also used:

a. A form including text field, email, radio button, comment area, submit & reset buttons, required attribute, and an additional conformation page
b. An iframe for playing a video from another site.
